College Annals.

After occupation by Turkish officials from May 10th 1916 until April 2nd 1919, the College plant was restored to American control, and the process of reconstruction began. Relief work is given the first place in American efforts for the present, and some parts of the College equipment are used for Relief purposes. Relief service and education, however, are carried on by separate groups of workers except for certain administrative duties.

The first academic exercise after the Great War was held Sept. 6th, when Mr. Timotheos M. Papadopoulos, who had nearly completed the course in 1916, was awarded his diploma and degree.

Regular instruction was resumed Oct. 1st, all the students being in the preparatory classes; there is no proper college instruction this year. For the present the pre-war program of lessons is followed.

Founders' Day was observed Oct. 31st, which by a coincidence was the first anniversary of Turkey's armistice. Former students are earnestly invited to write letters back every year on Founders' Day.

Overcoming Handicaps.

There are handicaps in conducting a college from whose field the smoke of the Great War has not yet lifted.

The old main building stands condemned, but cannot be demolished until other buildings to take its place are erected; it is essential for the time being.

North College and the Library building have been placed in good condition. The Wicks Industrial Self Help wood and iron working shops are in operation again, though with diminished equipment and output. Grinnell Athletic Field, the bakery, bath, reading room, library, museum, out-door and in-door basket ball floors, have been one by one brought into use. The Armenian and Greek Societies, Sunday Vespers and the Educational Association have resumed regular meetings.

Features of College Life.

The climate of Marsovan never seems better than on returning after an absence. The altitude and clear sky, the pure air and water, the mountains and the plain, combine to furnish almost ideal health conditions. Anatolia Hospital just across the street cares for every case of sickness in its first stage. If any group of lads has reason to be happy it is our student body. Study is sweet after the enforced vacation of war time. Nourishing food, sound sleep, regular hours, work for those who need to earn, sports for all in the ample campus and Grinnell athletic field, are features of the daily round. Members of the different Anatolia institutions and the Relief institutions often meet in larger or smaller groups for various purposes and to mutual advantage. Lectures more or less formal, and literary, musical, and social entertainments, frequently take place. There is a full program of athletics, gymnastics, and games, and Field Day exercises are held from time to time. Y. M. C. A. plans are under consideration.

Terms of Admission and Courses of Study Offered.

Students entering the First Form must be at least twelve years of age; must present satisfactory credentials of good moral character; and must pass examinations in the modern grammar and handwriting of their vernacular languages, in elementary Geography and Arithmetic, and if Turkish citizens in the Turkish first reader. Applicants failing to pass the entrance requirements for the First Form will not be admitted to the institution. Advanced standing for new students will be determined by entrance examinations. The courses of study to be offered for the year 1920-'21 include the regular classes of the Preparatory and College departments from the First Form up to and including the Freshman.

Expenses

The annual charge for boarders will be forty-five Turkish gold liras, or its equivalent in currency at such rate as may be fixed by the College Treasurer at the time of payment. Of this sum at least twenty-five liras must be paid on or before the opening of the College year in September. The remaining twenty liras not later than the opening day of the second semester in February.

The annual charge for day pupils is ten Turkish gold liras, or its equivalent in currency at such rate as may be fixed by the College Treasurer at the time of payment. Of this sum at least five liras must be paid on or before the opening of the College year in September; the remaining five liras not later than the opening day of the second semester in February.

A fine of ten per cent is imposed on all payments delayed by special permission beyond the dates above indicated. If the payment be delayed more than two weeks an additional five per cent must be paid for every additional two weeks delay or fraction thereof.

If a student leaves College before the end of the College year he forfeits his payment for tuition to the end of the semester in which he leaves, and his payment for board to the end of the calendar month in which he leaves.

Student Aid.

One third of the students do some form of work in part payment of College bills, not a large proportion of beneficiaries. Many have no fathers, some have no mothers, homes, or pecuniary resources. Yet such lads often thirst for an education, are likely to become useful men if trained, and are urgently needed for the building up of their various communities. No direct aid is given without work rendered by the student to the extent of his ability to perform it. This situation makes a strong appeal to friends, especially our graduates and former students, for the support of individual students in College. Special gifts for this purpose during the current year are acknowledged from Mr. H. Ayvad of Hoboken, and Dr. Edward Bedrosian of Philadelphia. Expenses are calculated as follows:

Full support for one boarder	one year,	$200,00
Half support for one boarder	one year,	$100,00
Full tuition for one day pupil	one year,	$50,00
Half tuition for one day pupil	one year,	$25,00

CALISTHENICS

All through the years of the war, Anatolia Girls 'school was kept open, carrying forward its work through the tireless energy and dauntless heroism of Miss Willard, Miss Zbinden, and of Miss Gage who died there in July 1917. While the activities of the school were necessarily limited in scope and changed in nature, and while it struggled under tremendous difficulties, yet it rendered a service which will never be forgotten by those who were privileged to share its life during those years; and its story makes one more illustrious page in the history of missions in Turkey. The glory of those years does not consist in the number of graduates,—only four girls were given diplomas from June 1915. on; nor in the size of the student body and teaching force, though these were fair; nor yet in buildings and equipment,—the school was forced to use most meager quarters and facilities. It consists rather in the oft repeated achieving of the impossible, in obstacles overcome, in the heroic love and devotion of the workers, all of whom are now away for rest and change.

With this heritage added to the already notable record during the first half-century of its existence, the school looks forward to broadening fields of service and activity in the years to come, and will seek to meet as adequately the demands made by the changing conditions of the modern world as it has met the needs of the past.

TRUSTEES.

The American missionaries resident in Marsovan are the trustees of the school and control all important decision in regard to it.

GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS.

The school premises are within the same enclosure with the missionary residences and other American institutions, occupying the southern part of this enclosure, where the school enjoys many advantages incident to nearness to these institutions and yet is entirely apart from them. The gardens and playgrounds cover about $4\frac{1}{2}$ acres, on which also stand Fritcher Hall, first occupied in 1894 and now devoted to the Preparatory Department, with accommodations for 150 students; South Hall, which is now the home of the High School, with accommodations for 70; and other buildings temporarily used for orphanage work.

COURSE OF STUDY.

During the first three years all subjects except English are studied in the vernacular. Beginning with the Fourth Form all work in Bible, Mathematics, Science and History is done in the English language.

Special attention is given to the development of an accurate and proper use of the pupil's vernacular, both in speech and writing. In the Turkish course the student acquires a reading and writing knowledge of the language in the Arabic character.

The study of English gives to the pupil a free conversational use of the language, ability to write it, and to read English books with ease.

For one entering the First Form eight years are required to complete the course.

MUSIC.

The Music Department offers excellent opportunities for training in singing and in piano and organ playing. Lessons in reading music and chorus singing are given throughout the course. Private lessons on the organ and piano may be taken by a student of any class. These lessons are not included in the curriculum; an extra charge is made for them.

PRACTICAL TRAINING.

The school is putting increasing emphasis on the training of girls for efficiency in the practical things of life. All pupils are required to pass through a rigid course in plain sewing, which is followed by the making of simple garments. In the last two years dressmaking, including cutting and fitting, is taught. Following the plain sewing are courses in embroidery and fine needlework, where good progress is made both in oriental work and also in that introduced from Europe and America.

A trained nurse gives lessons in the care of the health. These lessons are simple and elementary but practical.

RELIGIOUS ADVANTAGES.

The school is a Christian institution, founded for the purpose of giving a Christian education to those who attend it. The study of the Bible holds an important place throughout the entire course. All may attend Sunday School which meets at 3: o'clock on Sunday afternoon throughout the school year. All boarding pupils attend the Sunday preaching services, which are held in College Hall morning and evening. The organized Christian activity of the school has this year taken the form of Y. W. C. A. clubs, the older girls being leaders of the clubs under the guidance of teachers.

The personal influence of Christian teachers and students is strong and helpful to those of less experience. The importance of personal Christian character and life is constantly emphasized.

SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

All boarding pupils live in the school buildings, the older girls in South Hall, and those of the Preparatory Department in Fritcher Hall. All dine together in the large double dining room of Fritcher Hall. Each house has its own study hall, recitation rooms, library, dormitories, students' sitting room, and teachers' rooms. The older pupils enjoy the privileges of occasional lectures and social occasions in the school and college.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

For admission to the First Form the candidate should be able to read and write her own vernacular freely, and should be prepared to pass an examination in Arithmetic on addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. Satisfactory testimonials in regard to character are required before a pupil is received. For boarding pupils, twelve years is the age limit.

To enter an advanced class the candidate is required to pass examinations on the work of the class preceding the one to which she seeks admission.

Entrance examinations are held on the Monday and Tuesday preceding the opening of the first semester. It is important that application for admission should be made early.

NECESSARY OUTFIT.

Clothing should be simple and serviceable. Provision should be made for both warm and cold weather. Each girl should have not less than three suits of under clothing. Rubber overshoes are a necessity. Each girl should bring a trunk, mattress, bedding and towels. All articles that pass through the laundry should be clearly marked with the owner's name. The dormitories are furnished with bedsteads and closets for all.
