Dr. Erol Atalay
(13.11.1935 - 06.09.1988)

Dr. Erol Atalay *

Erol Atalay, who died at a comparatively young age, was born at the Figani village belonging to the province of Çorum. He graduated from the Archaeology Department of the Ankara University, in 1963. After the military service he was appointed an assistant of the Ephesos Archaeological Museum in 1966. During the ensuing period he also served as Government Representative to the Xanthos and Ephesos excavations. After having got a scholarship from the Austrian Government he began to work on his doctorate in the Archaeology Department of the University of Vienna where he completed his thesis on the subject of "Clothed Female Statues Produced in Ephesos During the Second Century A.D.". Then returning to Turkey, he resumed his work at the Ephesos Museum. One year later he was appointed an assistant of the Department of Classical Archaeology of the Erzurum University. In 1980, he returned to the Ege University where he worked until his death.

E. Atalay's main field of specialization was funerary steleae. In the course of his work at Ephesos he not only located the Hellenistic cemetery of the city, but also identified some ateliers of gravestones on the basis of the material unearthed during the Austrian excavations. Beside his work of many years as a member of the excavations at Ephesos, in 1985 he began to excavate the ancient Notion; but he unfortunately could continue this work for only three seasons.
