† Deceased, the death occurring at the moment of this publication.

MR. H. TAKVORIAN.

Just at the moment when this Report and Catalogue goes to the press occurs the death of one of the instructors in the College.

Mr. Takvorian graduated from this institution with the class of 1890. As a student, he was ardent and faithful, so far gaining the confidence of his teachers that he was intrusted with very important duties during the latter part of his course. After graduating, he immediately began teaching at Ordou, on the coast, and subsequently entered upon the same work at Trebizond, where he labored faithfully for a series of years. His reputation for earnestness and fidelity resulted in his being asked to come and assist in the work of the college, his great love of which led him to accept with gladness. He began his work with the year opening September last. A few weeks since, he began to sink under what proved incurable disease. Surgery and medical skill, with tender nursing, did all that could be done, but his pure and true life came to a close March 6. Seldom has any occasion occurred more impressive than that of his funeral from the College.

The Christian zeal and patience of this alumnus, if shared by all, would soon make Anatolia College, not what it already is, a potent, but more, — an all-prevailing agency in the country.

REPORT — 1901-1902.

The passage of another year has served to illustrate and emphasize the following words used in the last report : —

“ No institution enters upon the new century with a more open door before it than Anatolia College. It has not far from half of Asia Minor for its proper field, while pupils come also from Greece and other regions as distant. As concerns the number of candidates for admittance, nothing remains to be desired ; the number of applicants has for several years been beyond the capacity of the buildings. The people of the land are more and more eager for education, more and more willing to make sacrifice for it, as they are increasingly thankful for a college of pronouncedly Christian character and principles, the expense in which is not beyond their means. It is interesting to note the increasing appreciation of educational privileges among the people. At first there was found in the towns here and there one awake to their importance, but now the interest is spread abroad. While the sons of the well-to-do compose a considerable proportion of the student body, the children of the poor, even in mountain hamlets and sheltered in log cabins, dare to entertain the hope of some day entering college. They lay their plans for it, and begin years in advance to gird themselves for the struggle, — that struggle which has made men of so many youth in Western lands.

“ The body of teachers in Anatolia College feel a strong desire to use well this opportunity, to do well the work set before them, and they crave from their friends that sympathy which will inspire them with hope and nerve them with courage as they labor."

The number of students is now greater than at any time since the foundation of the College. The fact that the principal reason of this growth is the good influence and example of students, during past years, in the communities into which they have gone forth, is one which causes profound gratitude in the minds of their teachers.

At its inception, this institution entered as a new element into society in this part of the East. It took its direction in accordance with a certain moral and intellectual ideal, and from that direction it has never swerved. There is no abatement of the effort to render the College more effective as an elevating force within the sphere of its influence, which has now become very wide, and it is certain that Heaven has smiled upon and prospered the institution from the beginning. Devoutly is it hoped that from the same source whence help has been derived hitherto will always come the grace to discover the false and the faulty in methods and in spirit, and, with steady patience, to make advance toward better things.

In order to correct certain erroneous impressions in the minds of some, in the last report a statement of principles was made, and we desire at this time to reënforce that declaration. This is not a secular institution, set up and carried on to satisfy a popular demand. Views and convictions being what they are, it cannot do otherwise than fall into line with the thought and purpose of the great Master to whom Christendom owes its existence and sublime progress, nor fall so low as to be ashamed of his great principle: "First the kingdom of God." While every student enjoys untrammelled freedom to hold to his own religion, every mind under instruction and guidance here will, as far as moral influence goes, be held to that which is spiritual, that which is supreme. But as these spiritual influences are above and independent of all that is sectarian, and as the love of the Christ can dwell in every zone, can breathe and throb underneath many external forms, no student is ever led, unless by his own inner, free and independent conviction, to any change of religious profession whatever.

But we hold that while man is a spirit, with a mission here and a destiny hereafter, to fulfill that mission, to realize that high destiny, he must be at his best and do his best; hence:—

First. He must be broadened, as far as possible, by liberal education.

Second. If godliness is all-important, manliness is important; hence the great tenacity with which this institution holds to the self-help idea.

Third. The idea of lifting the whole people to a higher moral and intellectual level is constantly kept in view. The College does not exist to secure place and privilege to its graduates, but to bring forth among the people and for the people those true and self-denying leaders for which the need is so great. The College holds that, if it can train men according to such ideas, it will do the best service; that if it can produce such men, it will produce great men.

GOOD INDICATIONS.

There are abundant indications that such an ideal as the above has not been pursued in vain. Examining the course of graduates hitherto we find them classified as follows:—

Ministers of the gospel, nearly sixteen per cent of the whole number.

Teachers (of whom fourteen are professors or high-grade teachers in important preparatory schools or academies), thirty per cent, many of these teachers also being spiritual leaders.

Mercantile men, thirty per cent.

Medical men, fifteen per cent.

Government employ and other work, less than ten per cent.

The number of those who have been in the institution for longer or shorter periods, without graduating, is very large compared with the number of graduates. Many of these have carried with them highly salutary and elevating influences, and among them are some fine characters.

A GREAT STEP IN ADVANCE.

In the reports from year to year the hope has been expressed that the number of students in the four regular College classes might become proportionally larger; that is, that the work done here might be more collegiate and less preparatory. It is with pleasure that we now exhibit the realization of the hope.

As compared with the whole number of students in attendance, in 1897 the number in the four College classes was $21\frac{1}{2}$ per cent; in 1898, it was $20\frac{1}{2}$ per cent; in 1899, it was, owing to stricter classification, $18\frac{1}{2}$ per cent; in 1900, it was 31 per cent; in 1901, it was 35 per cent; in 1902, it was $44\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.

There are now one hundred and fifteen students in the four College classes, while there are a hundred and forty-one in the three preparatory forms.

(It will be noticed that similar progress is being made in the Girls' Boarding School, where thirty-five per cent of all are now in the four advance classes.)

THE LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

During the College year 1900-1901, 5,330 books were drawn by the teachers and students, in each case with the right to retain the volume two weeks. Additions of 150 volumes were made to the library, of which 120 volumes were presented by Mr. G. Ajhderian, now in the United States.

The whole number of volumes in the library is about 4,500. Far better provision than this is necessary for such an institution. It is hoped that adequate library funds may be secured from some source.

VARIOUS ASSOCIATIONS IN CONNECTION WITH THE COLLEGE.

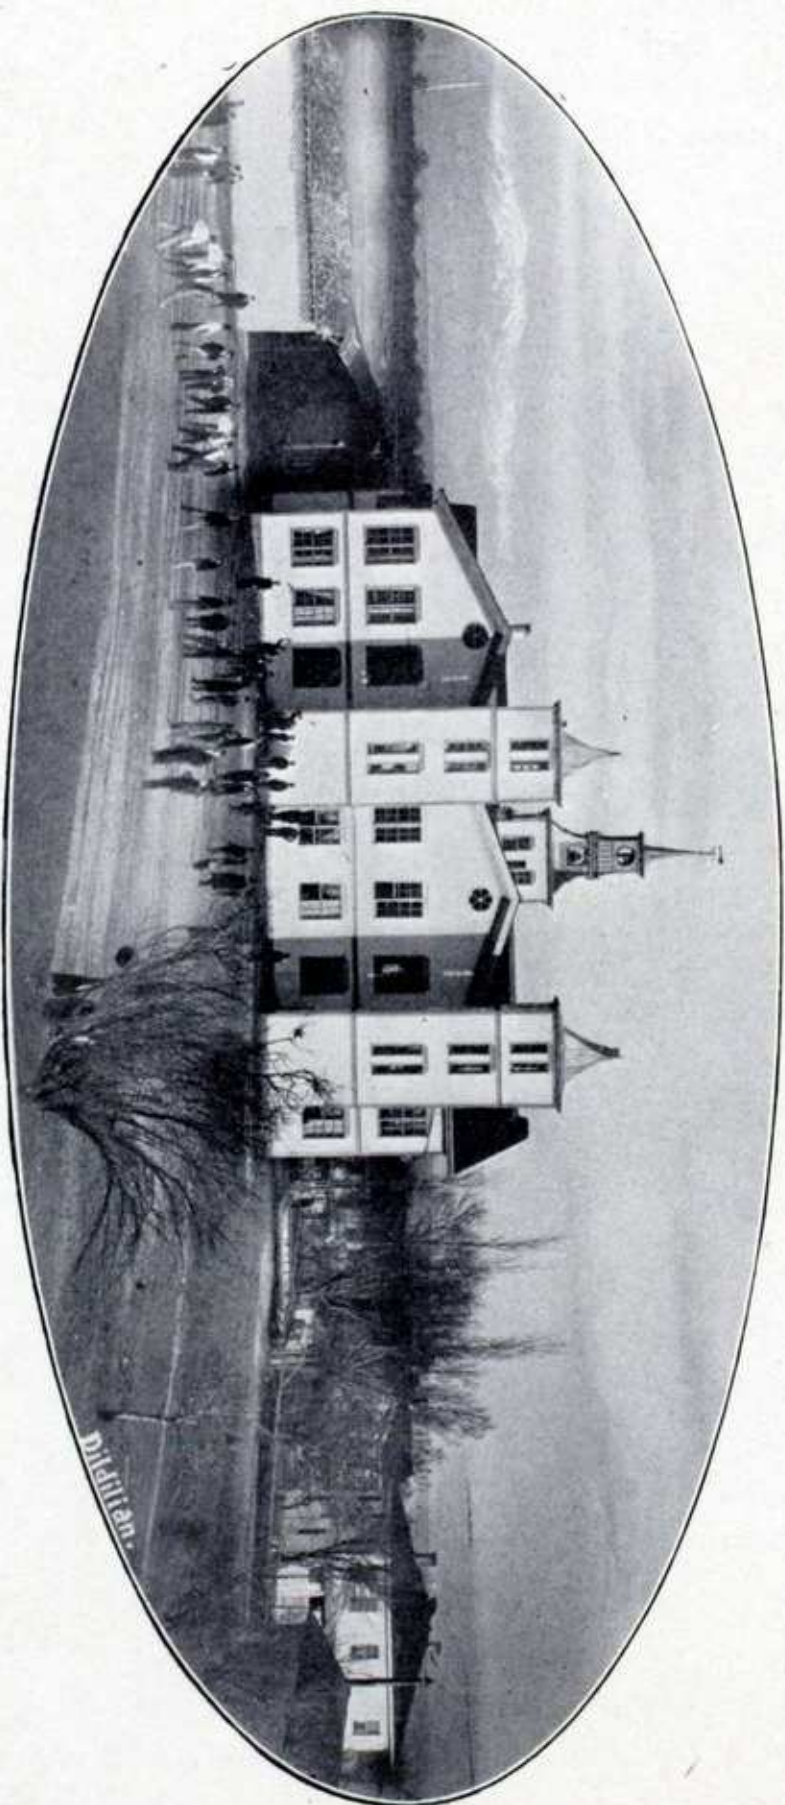

As is always the case where mind and heart feel the tide of life, here, too, different social organizations spring into existence, helpful in various departments of effort or research. The principal growths of this character may be noticed.

THE CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

This is a very useful and earnest association. It took its rise from the leading idea of that remarkable book, "In His Steps," by Sheldon. Every Sunday morning there is a warm and interesting devotional meeting. The members are assigned Christian work according to their desires. A number seek out the sick and suffering in the town, helping some to medical care, placing them in the hospital when necessary. Others are engaged in Sunday-school work in the different quarters. Others give special attention and sympathy to poor students, and often provide help for them in their necessities. Much other good work is done and good influence exerted. This is an uplifting agency in the College. The regular members are fifty-four, but many others attend the meetings.

THE ARCHÆOLOGICAL CLUB.

This organization is very much alive. The membership is, at present, over seventy, composed of teachers and graduates and friends from outside, as well as advanced students in the College. Ladies as well as gentlemen are members. The meetings are quarterly, and no meeting occurs without the addition of members and increase of interest. We have the beginnings of a museum. Excursions and investigations are often made; the interest of all College students and many outside is being enlisted. This organization promises to be of assistance to European archaeological societies. Already it has brought to light some matters of interest unknown before, and occasional papers are beginning to appear in European publications. The hunt for Roman milestones — so useful in determining ancient ways, and hence the locations of ancient cities, the routes of trade, and the march of armies, with much else of ancient history — is very interesting. The investigation of ruins, ancient castles, and shrines, takes us back to the age of the Hittites, back to the days when bulls were worshiped. This club has for its cultivation a fresh field, all the more interesting for being a little off the beaten track. The numerous mounds of the vicinity are, as yet, almost totally unexplored.

THE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

This organization centers in the institutions on this compound, but any in neighboring towns and cities have the privileges of membership. The object of the association is to raise enthusiasm for and improve the methods of teaching. It is a young enterprise, but the attendance and life manifest at the meetings promise much for the future. As this association is capable of exercising a controlling influence upon the schools of the region, it is believed that the opportunity will be appreciated and well used.

THE ORCHESTRA.

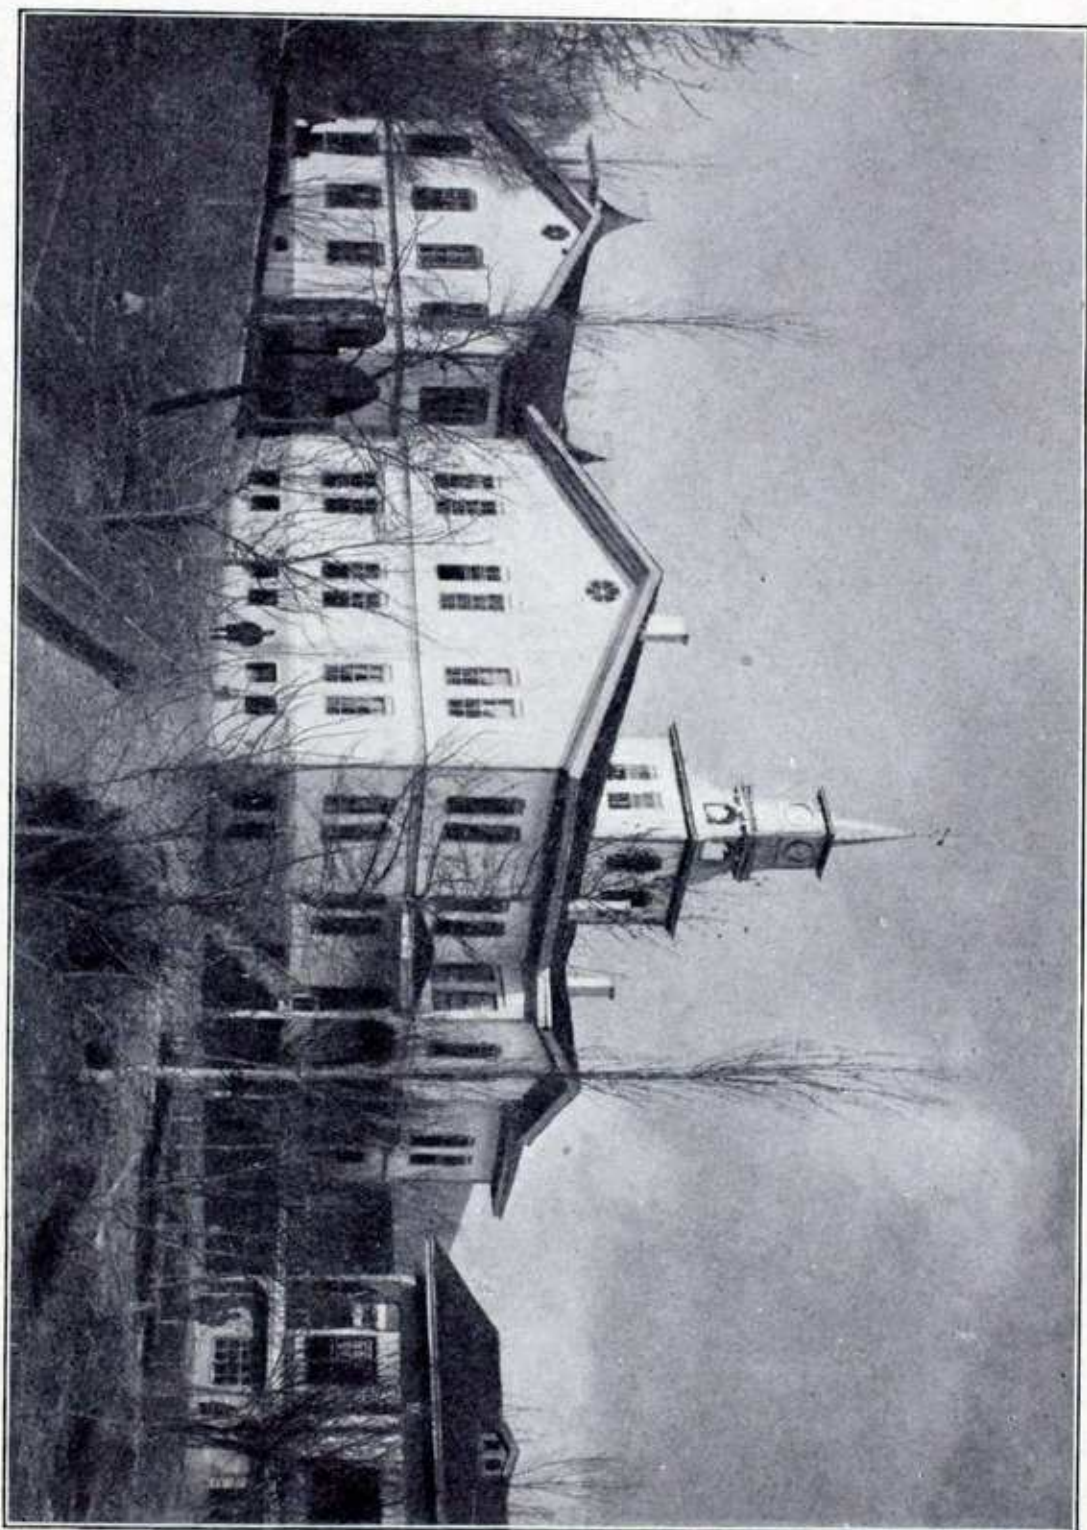

It is hoped that the leader of music, absent during two years at Stuttgart for special preparation in his branch, will be back at his post before the end of the present year. In the meantime the orchestra can hardly make progress, though it holds together and keeps up some practice.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

This association is of some years' standing, and the interest in it increases with the passage of time and yearly additions to the membership. Its annual meeting takes place at Commencement time, which occasion has both an intellectual and a social character. At each meeting there is an address on some subject of vital interest, and time is given to the discussion of plans and measures for the good of the College. One example of the usefulness of such discussion is seen in what follows below.

THE TOWER CLOCK.

The want of an authoritative timepiece which could be seen and heard on the campus and in the neighborhood has been greatly felt in the past. At last the proposition came before the Alumni Association, to ask former students to raise the sum necessary for a good tower clock. They gladly took up the enterprise, undergraduates and some friends being permitted to join, and the required sum has been raised. Henceforth a light chime of three bells will announce the quarter hours, the fourth, a larger bell, striking the hours. The names of the donors are inscribed on a tablet in the hallway under the clock. So great was the desire of the College boys, even the poorest, to have some share in this memento, that quite a number have done much shoveling of earth and other hard work to earn the money for their contribution.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS.

No one unacquainted with the difficulties that beset the acquirement of real estate and the erection of buildings in Turkey can at all comprehend the satisfaction with which we contemplate the now widened and somewhat symmetrical campus and the more commodious buildings. For both of these goodly views we have, as again and again in the past, to thank Dr. and Mrs. D. K. Pearsons, of Chicago. Their former gift for building purposes, the utilization of which had to be postponed for some years on account of the disturbed state of affairs, was allowed to rest in the meantime, in the form of a good investment, where it gained over a thousand dollars, and has now been used for the betterment of the buildings, both those occupied by the young men and those occupied by the girls of the Boarding School. The result is greatly increased comeliness and convenience. The last donation of Dr. and Mrs. Pearsons, coming at the very time when the lots on the south and west came into market, together with the successful sale of a portion of the late purchase on the north, enabled us to secure, at good advantage, those more necessary lots. If the satisfaction in Anatolia College at this conquest of half its difficulties is any measure of the satisfaction in the minds of those who have come to our assistance, they are happy people.

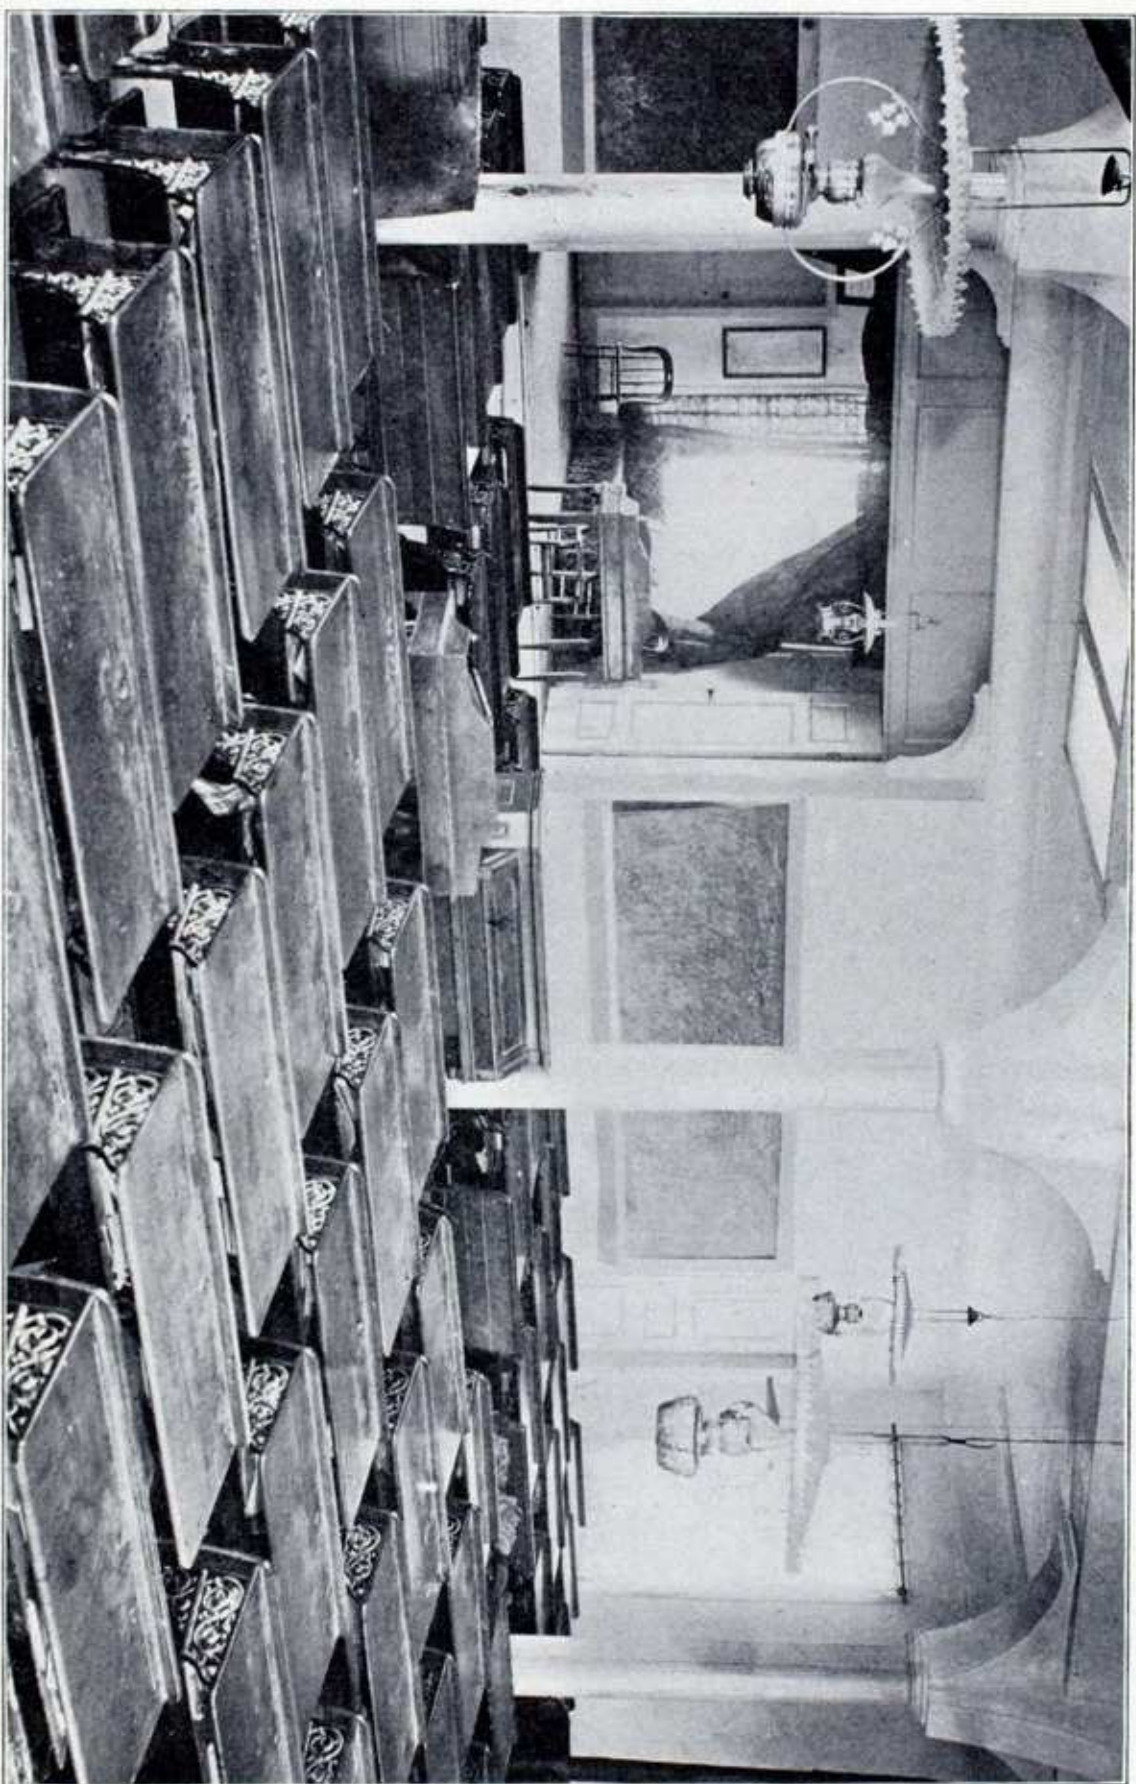

The College assembly room, bearing the name The Hannah Pearsons Memorial Hall, has been brought into fine shape, and has accommodated, at times, a thousand people. The back tiers of seats are somewhat raised on three sides, the platform occupying the fourth. Two rows of light pillars sustain the ceiling. The acoustic properties of the hall are very good.

THE SELF-HELP DEPARTMENT.

Over a hundred students are, to a greater or less extent, meeting their College expenses by labor in this department. Experience continues to emphasize the wisdom of this kind of help for poor students. Giving direct aid is often desirable, and scholarships should be provided for certain classes of cases ; yet, without doubt, self-help will be the method of aid employed, in the main, in this institution.

Repetition of previous statements concerning the objects of this department is desirable. They are, principally : —

1. To enable young men to obtain liberal education through their own industry.
2. To develop manly self-reliance, avoiding the danger arising from too much direct aid.
3. To inculcate, in this land, the idea of the dignity of labor, illustrating it by the example of its leading youth.
4. To make young men more practical, capable, inventive, facile in the use of tools, to secure them against helplessness in everyday life and bookishness as students.
5. To secure the tone that accompanies abundant physical exercise.
6. To cultivate in the students and the community a taste for advanced civilization, which is certainly helped on by the general introduction of such furniture as is here manufactured.
7. To recover, by sales, as much as possible of expense in aid of students.

STATEMENT OF NEEDS.

The following is a statement of the resources and needs of the College.

The provision already made for the College is as follows.

Professorships fully endowed : —

1. The Chair of History and the English Language.
2. The Giles S. Chapin Memorial Professorship, or Chair of Mathematics and Astronomy, endowed by Mrs. D. K. Pearsons, of Chicago, with $10,000.

Chairs partly endowed are : —

1. The Chair of the President of the Faculty, a memorial of the late C. S. Richards, LL.D.
2. The Elias Riggs Professorship of Greek Language.

The scholarships provided for are : —

1. The Levi Parsons Memorial, by Ex-Vice-President Morton, of the United States.
- 2, 3. Two Williams College Scholarships.
- 4, 5. Two George Richards Herrick Memorial Scholarships.
6. The Pera Union Evangelical Church Scholarship.
7. The Dr. Pratt Memorial Scholarship.
8. The Rev. Julius Yale Leonard Memorial Scholarship, established by Mrs. Amelia Leonard, New Haven, Conn.
9. The Blank Memorial Scholarships, for which $2,000 is invested at present, the avails assisting four needy students; used principally in aiding ministers' sons of good character and standing.

Also the sum of $1,000, given by Dr. H. G. Newton, of Sherburne, N. Y., as a memorial of a beloved father, the interest on which is used in helping students who do what they can to help themselves in the Industrial Department.

So likewise the East Smithfield, Pa., Scholarships, for which about $600 is provided.

We need at once three endowments for professorships at $10,000 each, with $5,000 to complete the Elias Riggs endowment — $35,000.

Ten scholarships at $400 each, to help poor students in the matter of tuition — $4,000.

For the development of the Self-Help Department, $2,000.

For library and apparatus, $3,000.

For the expense of grounds, $2,000. A good and permanent building for accommodation of students, $8,000.

In other words, the College at the present time needs $54,000.

The College ought to have an observatory, especially as there is none anywhere in this region, and while it has here on the ground two observatory-trained astronomers, and a situation so exceedingly favorable to astronomical observation. A sufficiently good and efficient observatory can be erected here for $12,000.

Growth continually requires additions to facilities. We repeat a previous utterance: Viewed from a financial standpoint, what Anatolia College needs is ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS.

GIRLS' BOARDING SCHOOL.

HISTORY.

In 1865 the Girls' Boarding School of the Western Turkey Mission, which had been located at Haskeoy, Constantinople, was transferred to Marsovan, and reopened under the principalship of Miss A. E. Fritcher, of Mount Holyoke Seminary. The first class was graduated in 1868.

During its history the school has five times been forced to seek a larger home.

The American teachers who have had connection with the school are : —

Miss A. E. Fritcher, 1865 to 1893.

Miss Flavia Bliss, 1868 to 1870.

Miss F. E. Washburn, 1873 to 1883.

Miss Mary P. Wright, 1885 to 1891.

Miss Jane C. Smith (now Mrs. Wingate), 1887 to 1892.

Miss Bertha Smith, 1889 to her death in 1892.

Miss Martha A. King, 1893 to her death in 1896.

Miss Caroline E. Bush, 1893 to 1894.

Miss Frances C. Gage, 1893 to 1898.

Miss Cora A. Nason, 1899 to 1900.

Miss Mary P. Christie, 1901 to 1902.

ACCOMMODATIONS.

The building now occupied by the Girls' School was completed in 1894, having a fine site, to the south of Anatolia College, on the missionary compound. It is built about an open court, having on the second and third floors inside verandas, from which open the large schoolroom with southern exposure, recitation rooms, the library, the girls' parlor, rooms for native teachers, a hospital, and dormitories. On the first floor are recitation rooms, dining-room, kitchen, gymnasium, and music rooms. A wing on the north side of the building (opening on the court to the south, and facing the College to the north) is the home of the American teachers. The building is heated, at present, by wood stoves, and lighted with kerosene. A large garden and playground, to which additions have been made during the past year, afford ample opportunity for outdoor life and exercise. The housework is, in the main, done by the pupils of the school, under the immediate direction of the matron, there being only one servant employed. Each pupil is expected to furnish her own bed and bedding.

RELIGIOUS WORK.

The Bible is taught in regular daily lessons throughout the course, the vernaculars being used during the first five years and English during the last two. All pupils attend the Sunday-school, where the International Lessons are studied. Boarders are required to be present at the Sunday-morning Protestant services. Those who understand English attend the evening preaching at the College. An active Christian Endeavor Society holds its meetings on Sunday morning before the preaching service.

Pupils of the school teach in mission Sunday-schools held in the homes of the people, in different parts of the city. These Sunday-schools are an important factor in the gospel work of the city, and are also valued for the experience in Christian work, which is gained from them by girls who will, later, fill places of responsibility.

INSTRUCTORS.

The American teachers of the school represent the following colleges: Smith, Elmira, Mount Holyoke, and Bryn Mawr. Of the native teachers, five are graduates of this school, two of the missionary school in Smyrna, and one of that at Talas. Members of the Faculty of Anatolia College teach the higher classes in the Greek and Armenian languages.

INCIDENTAL ADVANTAGES.

The members of the Senior Class have the privilege of membership in the Archæological Club and also in the Teachers' Association, where missionaries, college professors, teachers of the Girls' School and resident graduates of both schools meet for the discussion of practical questions.

The Friday-evening lectures at the College are open to all.

STATEMENT OF NEEDS.

Although there has been a marked gain in the matter of self-support on the part of those attending the school, there are, and will always be, girls from poor homes needing and deserving help. Among the strongest workers in the field are young women who were helped to their education by American money. The available money to help such is not enough to meet the need.

The sum of $30.80 will pay the expenses of board and tuition for a pupil for one year. It is very rarely necessary to help a girl to the extent of paying the entire amount. Half the amount would, in many cases, be enough to make it possible for the expense to be met.

The school library is small. Means for the yearly addition of books is an important need.

For the first time since occupying the present building the school is confronted by the fact that there is no room for further growth, the house being now crowded to the limit of its capacity. This is the only school for the higher education of girls in the Marsovan field, of thirty thousand square miles, with approximately a population of a million and a half. The people look to the Marsovan school to educate their daughters, and to train teachers for their town and village schools and Bible women for house-to-house work. It is also from this school that girls go into homes of their own, to be leaders in woman's work in the churches. These facts, together with the increasing demand for such training as is here given, make it imperative that some provision be soon made whereby a larger number of girls can be received into the school. It is not thought best to enlarge the present building, as it is believed that in so doing the great advantage of personal acquaintance and constant personal relations which now exists between teachers and pupils would, in great measure, be lost. What is needed is a second building, to be occupied by the younger girls.

GENERAL RULES OF THE SCHOOL.

1. No girl who cannot enter the regular classes of the school will be admitted.

2. The regular tuition for the school year is one lira for day pupils, and one and a half Turkish pounds for boarders.

Board in the school is five and a half Turkish pounds a year.

One half of this full amount for board and tuition must be paid upon entering the school, and the remainder at the opening of the winter term.

There is hardly a city or town of any considerable size in the Marsovan field where there is not found as teacher, preacher's wife, or wife of some prominent man, a girl from the Marsovan School, and almost without exception these girls are looked up to as leaders. Three from the School are in charge of the Marsovan Orphanage, one is interpreter and Bible reader in the Marsovan Hospital, and six teach in the Boarding School. In Sivas two are teachers in the Boarding School and one in the Orphanage. Others are or have been associated with American missionaries in work at Cesarea, Trebizond, Erzroom, and Tebriz, Persia.

HOSPITAL BUILDINGS.

DISPENSARY.

HOSPITAL REPORT.

The hospital work, as now prosecuted, under the administration of Dr. Carrington, began four years ago in a small building just outside the compound — one which Miss Josephine Taylor, a trained nurse from England, had rented for the benefit of the sick poor. The place was somewhat improved, and fitted to accommodate eight patients as well as they could be accommodated in such a crowded street. In that place ninety-seven cases were treated, the majority of them undergoing severe operations. Excellent results, both physical and spiritual, followed the efforts made in those humble quarters.

There are now three substantial hospital buildings in a good location on the mission grounds, a situation spacious and airy, with all the cheer that plentiful sunlight can give, with garden and orchard grounds in front, to the south, and the College campus on the back, at the north. There are beds for forty patients. There is a fine, modern operating room, with all the equipment necessary for the most formidable operations. There are four private rooms for such patients as are able to pay for these accommodations, or for those who need them after severe major operations. The trained nurses have pleasant quarters, and there is a complete isolation block, easy of access, in case of contagious diseases. There is, also, a well-stocked dispensary, with good waiting-rooms adjoining, for out-patients coming to be treated.

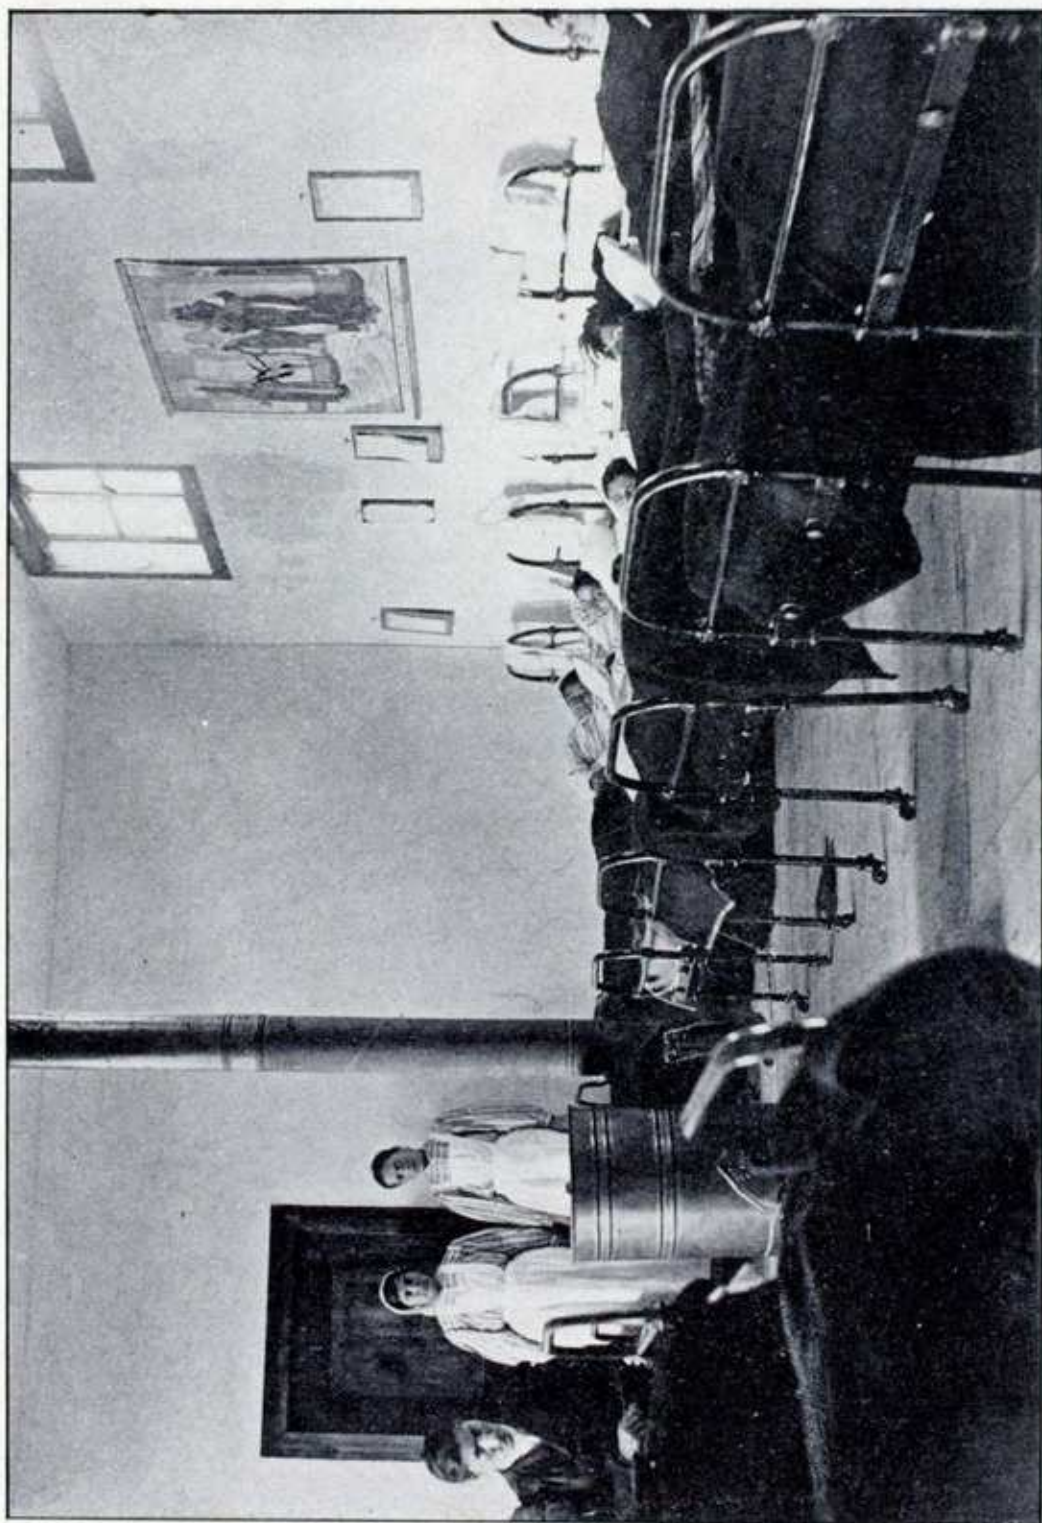

The first building erected, the largest one, has two good-sized wards, the housekeeping department, and other rooms. It was opened September, 1898, and was at once filled with patients. Great assistance in furnishing this was given in the donation of beds, blankets, utensils formerly pertaining to a small hospital started by a benevolent lady and assisted by English friends, the same assistance still continuing, to a considerable extent, in the way of providing for the sick poor of the vicinity. The second building erected was a wing at right angles with the main building, and contains the present nurses' rooms, the operating room, and several private rooms. The money for the erection of this was mainly given by private friends during 1900. The third building put up was the isolation ward, and that was provided in a similar manner.

During three years there have been two trained nurses, splendid workers, supported mostly by friends in England. The whole working staff consists of Dr. Carrington, the surgeon-in-charge, an assistant surgeon, a well-educated native doctor, who gives two days in the week to the hospital, the two nurses mentioned above, two native nurses, graduates of the Girls' Boarding School, and trained in the hospital, and one young man, a graduate of the College, now a medical student, and acting as druggist in the out-patient department.

Spiritual work is carried on in the hospital by the American missionaries, the members of the Anatolia College Faculty, and others. Prayers are conducted in the wards every day. Abundant opportunities are afforded for giving light and consolation to the sick, and these visits are welcomed by the patients. Those who can read spend much of their time in perusing the books, especially the Bible, and in reading to their fellow patients.

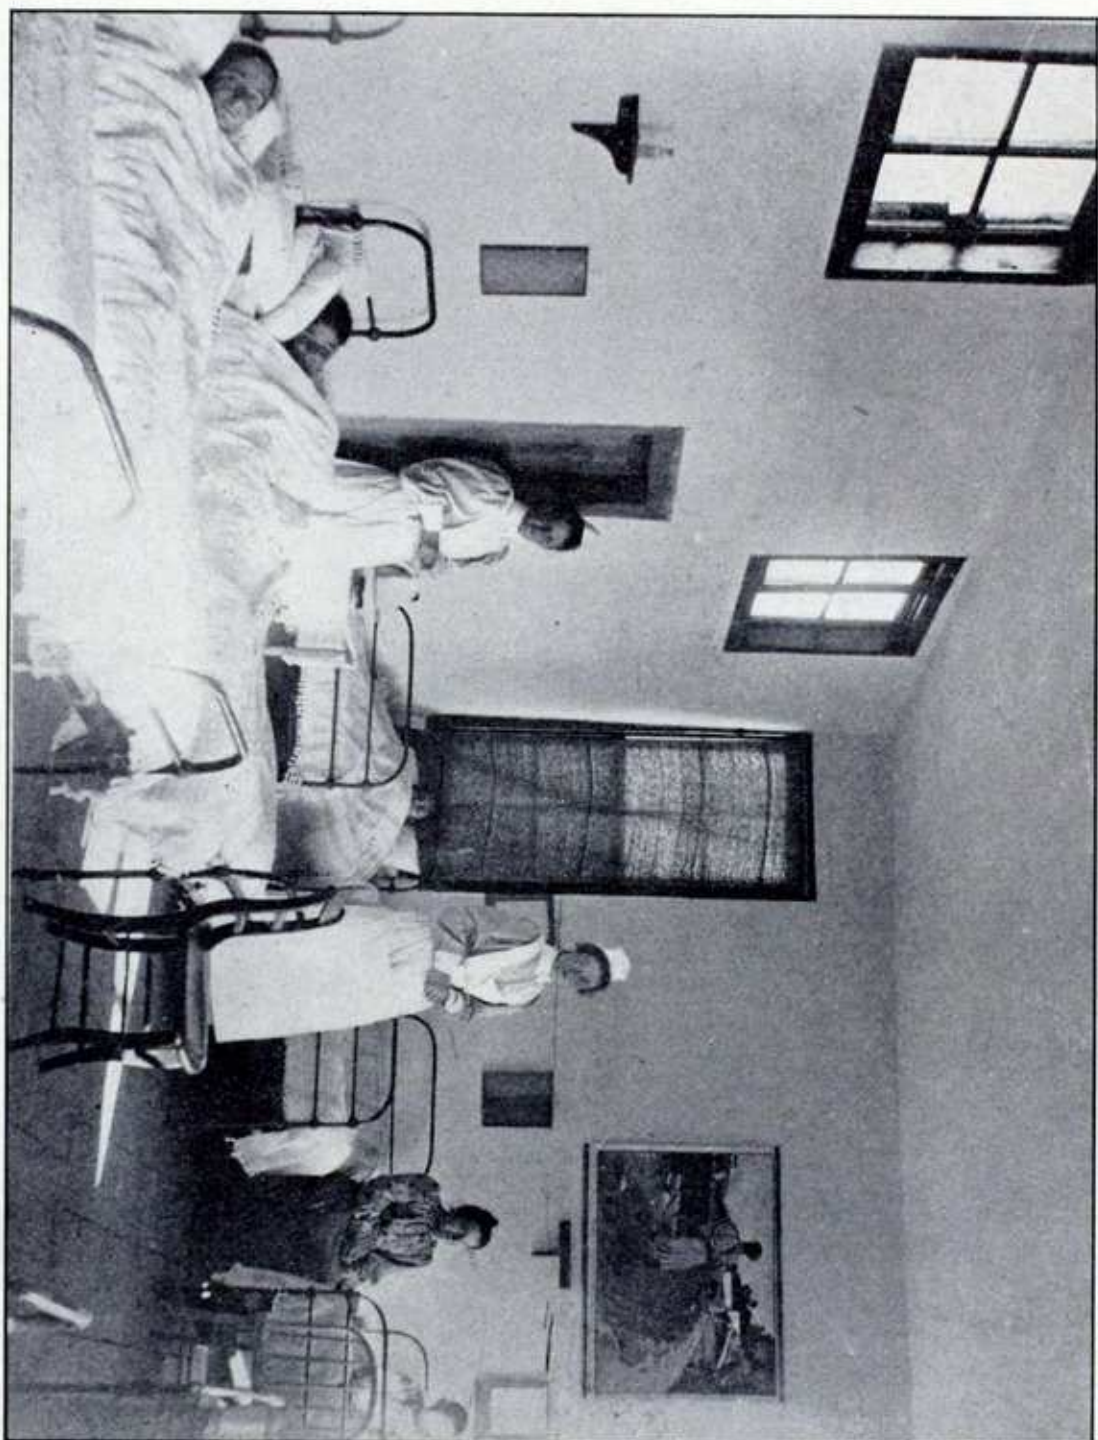

Not the least of the lessons which the hospital teaches is that of neatness and order. Patients coming in for the first time exclaim: "How very clean it is here!"

ONE OF THE WARDS.

IN THE OPERATING ROOM.

ONE OF THE MEN'S WARDS.

Patients able to move about show great willingness to help about the work. Often, from the city, and from other towns, reports come back, testifying to the salutary effects of the hospital influence on those who have been here, and some lives have been changed thereby. Although only just entering on the fifth year of its mission, the hospital has had sufficient influence to make it difficult to go anywhere in this wide field of thirty thousand square miles without encountering traces of it.

During the past year 161 persons have been cared for in the hospital, while 292 operations have been performed. In the out-patient department 5,010 cases were treated, the necessary medicines being prepared and dispensed. It is impossible, with the present force, to do much more visiting among the sick outside, yet, during the year, 310 such professional visits have been made. Also, much has been done for the missionary families, not only for those on the compound, but no less than ten from the missionary circles of our own and other stations have been treated, thereby avoiding the necessity of going to Europe or America for treatment. Four years ago, among the 165 orphan children, there was a prevailing disease of the eyes (trachoma), which was perseveringly treated till it was stamped out. The total number of persons on these grounds during term time, mostly cared for by this medical department, is about six hundred.

Though this amount of work is very important, yet, it seems very little compared with what ought to be done. Twenty-five pounds ($120.00) will support a free bed a year, yet there are often beds lying unused, or used by well-to-do persons, when much more distressed poor people might occupy them, if the hospital had the means of their support. It does not seem right that the hospital should be deprived of the opportunity to help the very class which Christ most delighted to help, — the poor and needy.

This medical work is a mighty agency for good; no work appeals more strongly to the heart of the Christian and the philanthropist. The Executive of Anatolia College would join in a strong plea for the adequate support of Anatolia College Hospital. Any large-hearted man with large means at his disposal, if he could once see the misery of hundreds and thousands about us here, who could easily be relieved by medical care, would, without much delay, put down a goodly sum for the prosecution of this good work. It is carried on for all classes alike, without distinction of nationality or religion. Be he or she Greek or Armenian, Turk or Circassian, Kurd or Protestant, the patient receives exactly the same assiduous attention. They are astonished at it, and often exclaim: "We never saw such a thing." What an instrumentality for melting away race prejudices and inherited antipathies! What a high road to brotherhood! Will not the reader of these words ponder this matter?

In behalf of the Hospital,

CHARLES C. TRACY,

President of Anatolia College.
